STC's Stacy Sinclair Promoted to Executive Estimating and Training Coordinator

Williamsburg, VA –

Scott Thomas Construction, Inc. (STC) recently promoted Stacy Sinclair, who served as the company's estimating coordinator for more than four years, to Executive Estimating and Training Coordinator. In this role, Sinclair will continue to directly assist STC's VP of Estimating in coordinating estimating operations as well as oversee all STC corporate training programs, including safety training.

STC COO, Bruce Lowe, commented on Sinclair's promotion. He said, "During my transition into the organization, I spent a considerable amount of time talking to STC's office and field teams. One of the overwhelming desires expressed throughout the organization was an aspiration to develop professionally through training, and to obtain a greater degree of experience through project diversity. Stacy assuming the role of training coordinator will energize our ongoing professional development and organizational diversification. She will serve as a change agent, as well as a coordinator, to assist us in identifying the training opportunities that will help STC be successful in current and future markets, as well as in determining how best to administer them."

Sinclair graduated Cum Laude from Radford University in 2003, earning a Bachelor of Business Administration in Information Systems.
